Relationships education, relationships and sex education and health education (RSHE)

RSHE:	Relationships education, Relationships and Sex education and Health education
PSHE ed:	Personal, Social, Health and Economic education
SMSC:	Social, Moral, Spiritual and Cultural education

Dear Parents/Carers,

As a part of your child's educational experience at High Bank, we aim to promote personal wellbeing and development through a comprehensive programme of Personal, Social, Health and Economic (PSHE) education that gives children and young people the knowledge, understanding, attitudes and practical skills to live healthy, safe, productive and fulfilled lives, both now and in the future.

The Department for Education announced changes to relationships, sex and health education (RSHE) following nationwide consultation. The new RSHE curriculum came into effect from September 2020 and all schools will be required to comply with the updated requirements fully (with a revised policy in place) by the start of the summer term 2021. Whilst much of the content will be very familiar to parents, there is some interesting new content on mental health/emotional wellbeing and basic first aid.

Does the new DfE statutory Relationships and Health Education guidance replace PSHE ed?

No. From September 2020, we have started to teach the content in the DfE's Relationships Education and Health Education statutory guidance. However, the new guidance doesn't cover everything needed for a comprehensive PSHE ed curriculum. Vital elements such as the rights of the child, caring for the environment, economic education, and parts of British Values and SMSC (Social, Moral, Spiritual and Cultural education) are not included. At High Bank, we will continue to teach PSHE ed and the RSHE will be part of that.

The new RSHE guidance:

Before we can start to discuss the revised RSHE (or PSHE ed) curriculum we need to know what the guidance says. There are some parts we have to do and other parts that we can choose to do. You can help us to decide on what matters to our school and our community.

The following documents can be accessed from the school website in the information section in the Relationship, Sex and Health Education or by clicking on the links below.

- The full statutory guidance can be found at DfE: statutory guidance 2019 (this is a very long document!)
- A very useful summary version can be found at DfE: guides for parents
- Some frequently asked questions can be found at: DfE: FAQs

The new guidance focuses on healthy relationships and keeping children safe in the modern world. It also covers a wide range of topics relating to physical and mental health, wellbeing, safeguarding and healthy relationships. A lot of which we do already. Learning about the emotional, social and physical aspects of growing up will give children and young people the information, skills and positive values to have safe, fulfilling relationships and help them take responsibility for their own well-being.

We will be asking you about your views about the new curriculum and how we can best work with you to support your child with the learning.

The following questionnaire can be found on the website a link will also be placed on Facebook and Twitter and can also be found by clicking this link.

(1) How could the school help you to understand more about our new RSHE/PSHE education curriculum?

I would like (tick the ones you think are important to you):

- a. (more) information about the new guidance
- b. (more) information about the content of the curriculum (what my child will learn) at this school
- c. a chance to talk to my child's class teacher
- d. to look at some of the activities or resources used

Something else.....

(2) How would you like the school to reflect your family (including your faith and/or values) in our teaching?

I would like the school to (tick the ones you think are important to you):

- a. talk about different types of families (not all families are the same)
- b. explain that religions have different views about relationships and family life
- c. make sure that children learn about the importance of equality and respect for difference

Any other comments- E.g are there any beliefs or practices relevant to relationships (and sex) education that are important to your belief/culture/faith that we might not be aware of?

(3) I would like to be considered for the RSHE/PSHE ed focus group.

Many thanks in advance for completing this questionnaire
